

The Ball Street Journal

issue 6

Happy Pride Month! Be Loud. Be Proud.

Pride is a time to throw on some glitter, wear your rainbow flag (literally, some people), and show the world that we are here, queer, and FABULOUS. It lets others out there know that it is OKAY to be GAY. So from the bottom of our hearts, thank you for being part of the Boston Strikers family; for being welcoming, accepting, and loving to all of our brothers and sisters... gay, straight, or anywhere in between and outside.

So what's in this PRIDE issue? Well, besides the obvious Dear Daddy and a few PG Boston Pride pictures, we are announcing some big events coming up in June ending with Pride Night at the Revs! So grab a paper towel cuz we're about to spill the tea.

"I miss you. What have you been up to?"

Okay, so maybe it's been closer to 3 months but hopefully you miss us more than you miss your ex at a 1am booty call. But what have we been up to?

Our 7v7 team took 1st place in the BSSC League

We hosted our first Wednesday Night draft with captains

We raffled away a free league at our Tea Dance kickoff party

We marched in the Boston Pride Parade

We helped meal prep at Community Serving

We returned to the pitch in Cambridge for Sundays

We're lip syncing before drinking

Dear Daddy...

Dear Daddy,

It's summer and that means one thing. Speedo season. At least for everyone I see on instagram. But I'm not sure I can pull it off. I've never worn one, hell I don't even own one, though you wouldn't know from my Amazon browsing history. I guess I just feel like I won't look like they do online. Are regular bathing suits even allowed anymore?

Sincerely,

Forever Board Shorts

Dear Mankini,

Summer means way more than speedos.... It means planters punch, straight guys in basketball shorts, PRIDE parades, the smell of bad decisions and a sandy handy under the DD... But I know what you mean. All these insta-models flaunting their banana hammocks on their stories can be intimidating. But it's no different than the winter when your gym crush is posting nudes from the locker room and its -10 degrees outside. What you need to remember is there's more to summer than looking good on insta - if you're worried about that you're going to miss out on a lot of fun moments. That said, no-one says you need to wear a sausage sling cuz you're gay. Cute lil 5-7" inseam suits are totally in style and an improvement to the below-the-knee board shorts of our youth. But if you want to rock a Brazilian ball bag then you just need to strut your stuff with no reservations. Own it. Because nothing is sexier than a cutie with a bootie in a dong sarong... not even airbrushed abs on a face tuned twunk.

Love,

Daddy, the Saint-Tropez Truffle Duffle King

P.S. sounds like you need to clear your browsing if you're still using your parents Amazon Prime account
